

Justice and peace activist
June Kjome of La Crosse, Wisconsin, is featured in a new book:

Justice: Not Just Us
June Kjome: the making of an old lady activist

by Susan T. Hessel and Gayda Hollnagel

The book covers the 87-year-old Kjome's growing up years in Austin, Minnesota; her 19-year career as a Lutheran missionary nurse in South Africa; as well as her 20-plus years of advocacy for local and international causes ranging from hunger and poverty to equality for all people regardless of race, religion, gender, or sexual orientation.

Copies of the book may be ordered online at:

http://www.publishersgraphicsbookstore.com/Hessel,%20Susan_bymfg_53-1-1.html.

A portion of the proceeds from the sale will go to Habitat for Humanity.

For more information, contact Hessel (sue@lessonsfromlife.com) or Hollnagel (ghollnagel@yahoo.com).

